Code of Conduct

Purpose

The "Hello World" event by GDSC MLRIT is dedicated to providing a safe, inclusive, and harassment-free experience for all participants. This code of conduct outlines our expectations and guidelines to ensure a positive and respectful environment.

Expected Behavior

Participants, organizers, and sponsors are expected to:

- Be Inclusive: Respect and value the diversity of all participants, regardless of their background, experience level, gender, race, ethnicity, religion, or any other characteristic.
- Be Kind and Respectful: Treat everyone with kindness and respect, creating a welcoming atmosphere for collaboration and learning.
- Collaborate and Share: Encourage collaboration and the sharing of knowledge and ideas. Foster an environment where everyone feels comfortable expressing themselves.
- Follow Event Rules: Adhere to the rules and guidelines set by the organizers, including those related to project submissions, deadlines, and event logistics.

Unacceptable Behavior

Unacceptable behavior includes, but is not limited to:

- Harassment: Any form of harassment, discrimination, or intimidation will not be tolerated. This includes offensive comments, verbal or written abuse, and unwelcome advances.
- Disruptive Behavior: Disruptive behavior that interferes with the event's proceedings or the experience of other participants is not acceptable.
- Violation of Privacy: Respect the privacy of others. Do not record, photograph, or share personal information without consent.
- Unsportsmanlike Conduct: Behave professionally and be respectful, even in the face of disagreements. Unsportsmanlike conduct, such as cheating or dishonesty, will not be tolerated.

No plagiarism or re-using of past work

We encourage you to submit only projects prepared for the duration of the hackathon. However, if you decide to submit projects consisting of re-used code or re-submit a project that you have already submitted previously to any other hackathon, you are to disclose such previous use and its extent with the submission.

If, upon inspection, it is found that the project has re-used code that was not disclosed with the submission, the organizer may ask the participant to point out similarities and differences between the old and new work and/or disqualify the submission from winning awards automatically.

Reporting and Enforcement

If you witness or experience any behavior that violates this code of conduct, please report it to the event organizers immediately. Reports can be made in person or through designated communication channels.

Contact us:
Mail: gdsc@mlrit.ac.in
Dinesh (Lead @GDSC MLRIT): 7095091735

Organizers will investigate all reported incidents and take appropriate action, which may include verbal warnings, expulsion from the event, or involvement of local law enforcement if necessary.

Conclusion

By participating in the GDSC MLRIT "Hello World" event, you agree to abide by this code of conduct. Organizers reserve the right to update or modify the code of conduct as needed and to take appropriate action in response to any violations.

Thank you for helping create a positive and inclusive environment for everyone involved in the "Hello World" event. Together, we can make this event enjoyable and enriching for all participants.